EDU 7900 Qualitative research: Method and Analysis
Spring 2016 Dr. Anthony Annunziato

REFLECTION

Course Description:

“The purpose of the course is to develop an understanding of qualitative research methods and their application to educational research.”

In this course, Dr. Annunziato led our cohort through a thorough investigation of qualitative research design through class discussions, article analysis, critique of published works, journal articles and published dissertations, and the practical application of each to our individual dissertations.

Leading us through a complete dissertation, and the processes needed to complete each chapter, Dr. Annunziato made all of the readings in this course (as well as all other classes in the program), more meaningful as we learned to research and read with focus and purpose.
